SCRIP NEWS

For a short period of time lower denomination gift cards are available thru SCRIP. Some examples are Amazon $10, Starbucks $5, Target $10, Barnes & Noble $5, Applebee's $5, Wal Mart $10, Panera $5, Blimpie $5 and Home Depot $10. Plan ahead so we can order them for you if we do not have them in stock. In advance, THANK YOU for your support. Great ideas for Graduation, End of year teacher appreciation and Mother's Day.

Thank you to the CLS PTL for all that they do for the students and staff here! We were treated to an end of the year movie at Collins Road Theatre yesterday!

Cedar Rapids Kernels Night at the Ballpark Forms and Yearbook Forms are due in the office. Please turn them in soon!

HELP THE HELPING HANDS FOOD PANTRY

We are once again collecting non-perishable food items, cleaning supplies and personal care items for the Atkins Helping Hands Food Pantry. This organization helps families throughout Benton County. While all items are gratefully accepted, current specific needs include laundry detergent, dish soap, and most paper products. They are well stocked right now with toilet paper and bar soap. Please check dates, as they cannot distribute expired items. Send items to school by the end of the year, or bring them the night of the spring concert. Fareway or Target scrip cards will also be accepted. Thank you for your willingness to share with others!

ILSTO REPRESENTATIVE POSITION NEEDED

Iowa Lutheran Student Tuition Organization

The Purpose of ILSTO

A student tuition organization is Iowa's answer to assisting students to attend the school of their choice – not necessarily their local public schools. Your local Lutheran school provides just such a choice for church and community members. The LCMS schools of Iowa have come together to form this organization – a 501c(3) not-for-profit organization. Anyone who pays Iowa state income tax can donate and receive the tax benefits.

Purpose of the ILSTO School Representation Program

To deepen the link between ILSTO and schools and congregations in order to increase awareness, fundraising, and support of school choice in Iowa by developing relationships with legislators, families, business leaders, faculty and staff, and Boards of Education, and congregations. It is required that each school has one representative in this role in order to receive ILSTO assistance.

Build awareness of ILSTO by:

- Increasing visibility and exposure at the local school, churches, and in the community
- Receives news, posts it appropriately on the church and school bulletin boards, and distributes it personally to interested individuals
- Is familiar with the ILSTO website <http://www.iowalutheransto.org>
- Attends the ILSTO board meeting once per year
- Refers interested contributors to Mr. Dewey Torkelson at (712) 262-8237 or deweytorkelson@hotmail.com

RESOURCES FOR CHRISTIAN PARENTS IN THE 21ST CENTURY

REAL. PRESENT. GOD.: Finding Good in Life

It seems strange to say that positive emotions need to be cultivated. With exception to those who harbor pain, most of us are generally positive and that positivity rubs off on our children. This is good because positive emotions promote benefits in physical health, emotional health, sleep, the ability to stay calm and stronger relationship skills. Even beyond what science has found, God gives us an additional promise. When we think about good things, and practice them, we are aware of His peace.

“Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things. What you have learned and received and heard and seen in me — practice these things, and the God of peace will be with you” (PHIL. 4:8-9).

It is easy to believe that positive emotions are good for us, but why do we need to cultivate them? Think about riding a bike into the wind. As you ride, you notice the wind pushing against you for the entire trip. However, if you turn around and ride the same route with the wind at your back, you will only notice the benefit of the wind for a brief time. Pretty soon, you will take the wind for granted. This is the same thing we do with positive emotions. We take them for granted until they are no longer there. In a similar fashion, we take God’s goodness and care for us for granted. When we focus on goodness, we can more easily focus on the Source of that goodness.

Think about how you ask your children about their day. Do you ask for negative or positive things? If you ask in a neutral way, do they respond negatively or positively? In order to foster a more positive mood, ask your children to list three good things every day. It is important to develop a habit with this so your children begin to notice good things in order to save them for sharing. If they are not looking for good things, they are likely to remember only disappointments or frustrations. In other words, they will remember when they were riding into the wind.

When you are exchanging your lists of good things, take some time to reflect on why these things happened. Doing this will not only set a pattern for looking for good things, but also will teach your children how to make more good things happen. For instance, a good grade on a math test comes from paying attention in class, or a good day at recess comes from being a good friend to someone who also knows how to be a good friend. You children will develop recipes to find and create good things in their days.

An especially good time to do look for good things is when a child is faced with a frustrating problem. Finding the good in a tough situation will promote good problem-solving and help your children to identify the people in their lives who can give help. Cultivating positive emotions works to improve self-regulation because calm and optimism will be better practiced than panic and pessimism.

When we set about to cultivate positive emotions, this does not mean we ignore feelings such as grief, anger or just plain grumpiness. God created these emotions for a purpose. When we are sad, we grieve. When we are hurt or frustrated, we get angry, and often when we don't feel well, we get grumpy. Moving into a positive mindset does not prevent us from feeling other emotions, but it does help us to regulate those emotions more effectively. When we are grieving, we will be able to feel love from those who care about us. When we feel angry, we will be able to think about a way to prevent the situation that caused the anger. And when we feel grumpy, we will know to give ourselves a break, or possibly a nap. Positive emotions help us to more effectively read our negative emotions.

“There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy habitation of the Most High. God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God will help her when morning dawns” (PS. 46:4-5).

God's love, care and forgiveness give us so much to be grateful for. If it weren't for the grief caused by our sin, we would be happy all of the time. Teach your children the blessing of knowing that even in the midst of danger, angst or dreariness, God fills our hearts with trust for Him. Each morning brings a new day full of optimism and promise.

Camp Okoboji's Traveling Day Camp

Camp Okoboji will be holding their annual Vacation Bible School at St. John from July 15th through the 19th. This free-to-attend, action-packed week will be led by an energetic team of youth counselors from the camp. They will lead the children, those entering 1st through 6th grades in the Fall, in songs, Bible lessons, games, crafts, and more! Camp will be taking place from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 9:00 until 11:30 a.m. on Friday.

We are hoping to have a class for those children ages 4 through entering kindergarten as well, attending just 1/2 days that week from 9:00 until 11:30 a.m.

Mark your calendar and invite others to attend with you. Forms will be available next month.

With all this being said we have some needs to be filled. We are in need of preschool teachers for the week of camp. We need adult and youth volunteers to assist the counselors as they lead the activities. We also need a host family/families who would be willing to open their home to the counselors from Sunday evening until Friday morning. If you would be willing to volunteer for any of these things, please contact the church office. As it gets closer to the VBS date there will be sign-up sheets for people to bring in cookies, kool-aid, volunteers to serve snacks, people to prepare sack lunches for the counselors, and people to help with applying transfers to t-shirts.

Remember that ALL CHILDREN of the community are invited to attend VBS, so please help us spread the word, and save July 15th through 19th to attend!
